Lisa McDonough's workshop/presentation of "Teen/Hackz" provided me and my team of teachers with such amazing teacher tools. She taught us how we can improve on our relationships with each other, the children we work with and their families and also how to better improve on communication. We looked into 4 different behavior styles and learned more about ourselves, the children we work with and how to celebrate our differences.

We were able to identify our strengths, values, needs, and stressors which helped us begin the process of seeing the key elements of temperaments of those around us. After Lisa's presentation, lines of communication have improved overall amongst teachers and with the parents of the children in our care.

If I were to describe Lisa and her presentation, I would share that she is knowledgeable, dedicated to her studies in this field, enthusiastic, energetic and genuinely cares about human relationships.

I would highly recommend Lisa to consult with any person/persons who work with children. I'm looking forward to having Lisa come back and do a workshop for our parents so that they may receive the same benefits as we did as teachers. The key is partnering with our parents in their child/children's education.

Sincerely,
